This beer did not even beat out the Dregs. Leaking Keg.

Each guild member (beer taster) was blinded to the name of the beer. Each beer was scored 0 - 10 by tasters. The order of scoring was varied so the weak minded tasters would not always be influenced by those who were strongly opinionated towards the quality of the beer. The beer was placed in a jug, and past around by two beautiful beer ladies (wenches). These ladies grouped the beers of similar colors together. They started with the lighter brews, and ended with the mud like swill.

Participants had to taste at least 10 beers, and beers needed to be tasted by 9 tasters to be included.
